October 23 Referendum

There will be a referendum on Tuesday, October 23 to determine if Auburn voters are agreeable to building a new cemetery, a passive park that includes a greenway, and a soccer complex. In addition, voters will be asked to extend the school taxes that have been in place since the Auburn City School system was founded in the early 1960s. Neither referendum question involves the addition of new taxes.

Of the property taxes collected each year, the City places five mills of the property taxes in the Five Mill Tax Fund. This money can only be used to pay for projects that have been approved by voters in referenda. Many of the major projects the City has built over the past two decades have been built using the Five Mill Tax Fund. For example, the City's new Library, South College Street improvements, many of the new sidewalks, and the Duck Samford youth baseball facility are some of the recent projects built using the Five Mill Tax Fund following approval of the voters.

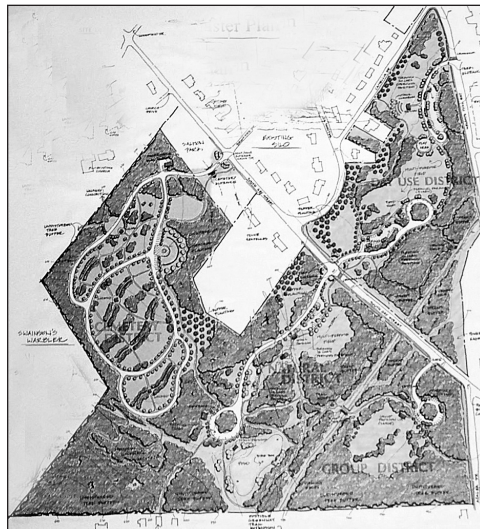

The three projects that will be voted upon on October 23 include a new cemetery on South Gay Street near Salmon Park, a passive park including the City's first greenway on the former Salmon property, and a new soccer complex on Wire Road. On all of these projects, citizen groups have been heavily involved in identifying the need for them and participating in their design.

Soccer Complex Master Plan

If Auburn voters approve these three projects in the referendum, engineering and landscape design work will take place over the next year. The projects will be bid in late 2002 or early 2003 and will be in place in late 2003 or early 2004.

Auburn City Schools is requesting approval of the voters to extend the 16 mills of property taxes. Currently, these taxes expire in 2016 but the ballot calls for them to be in place until there is action to repeal them. The Schools have a long list of major needs over the next decade but cannot issue bonds to build them with an expiration date only 15 years from now. The School Board also is planning to re-structure some of its bonded indebtedness to take advantage of interest rates that are as low as they have been in the past 30 years.

Sewer System Grease and Our Environment

Sewer system grease is the number one sewer system problem in Auburn. Grease gets into the sewer system through household drains, garbage disposals, and poorly maintained grease traps at restaurants and other businesses. Sewer overflow and backups caused by grease can cause health hazards, damage to home interiors, unpleasant odors, and an increase in operation and maintenance costs for the Sewer Division and property owner. Unfortunately, if the sewage from an overflow reaches streams, it can deplete the supply of oxygen and may adversely impact aquatic life.

According to the Water Environment Federation, the easiest way for communities to address this problem and prevent raw sewage overflows caused by excess grease is to keep this material out of the sewer system. By scraping grease and food scraps from plates, pots, pans, utensils, and grills into the trash for disposal, grease will not enter the system through sink drains or garbage disposals.

To report sewage problems or for additional information on sewer system grease, please call Don Wilder at 887-4980 or at 887-4911 ext 229. You can also pick up pamphlets on sewer system grease at the Water Works Board located at 171 North Ross Street.

Have You Recycled Lately?

The City of Auburn offers both a curbside and a drop-off recycling program. Curbside recycling pick-up service is available on your regular garbage collection day. Residents are encouraged to recycle the following items by separating them and placing them at the curb:

- aluminum cans
- steel cans
- corrugated cardboard
- clear glass bottles and jars without lids
- brown glass bottles and jars without lids
- newspaper
- plastics

The City also offers citizens a 24-hour Recycling

Drop-off Center and Compost Demonstration site located at 365-A North Donahue Drive, between Drake Avenue and Martin Luther King Drive. In addition to the items collected at the curb, the Drop-off Center accepts the following items for recycling:

- green glass
- magazines
- general office paper

The Drop-off Center is open seven days a week for your convenience.

The First Off-Road Bike Path Opens in Auburn

The grand opening of the first off-road bike path was held near the Chewacla State Park entrance on Shell Toomer Parkway on September 15. The bikeway was dedicated in honor of Dr. Charlotte Ward and her late husband, Dr. Curtis Ward, and is located parallel to Shell Toomer Parkway.

The Auburn Bicycle Committee recommended to the Auburn City Council that this bikeway be named in honor of the Wards because, for decades, their name has been synonymous with bicycling. Charlotte and Curtis Ward could be seen in all types of weather pedaling to and from their jobs on the Auburn University campus. The Wards have been staunch supporters of bicycling and have promoted the use of bicycles by their example. Interestingly, they never owned an automobile.

In an effort to say thank you to these two remarkable citizens and legendary bicyclists, the Auburn City Council passed a resolution on August 21, 2001, naming this bikeway "The Charlotte and Curtis Ward Bikeway."

The two-mile bikeway is now open for walking, biking, and other non-motorized vehicles.

The Public Works Department has a new weapon in the war against potholes on City streets. The recently purchased Akzo Nobel's fully equipped TP-4 Pothole Patcher is a self-contained unit equipped with tools and features needed to properly prepare potholes for the hot-mix or cold-mix patching material and to compact the patching material for longer-lasting repairs. To report potholes in City streets, please call 887-4910.

Visit the Library's "Slow Stroller"

The Auburn Public Library recently has placed on display a new piece of artwork in its Youth Services area entitled "Slow Stroller." Created by the nationally recognized Alabama artist Frank Fleming, "Slow Stroller" is a whimsical cast bronze turtle. Funds were made available for the purchase of the sculpture through a generous monetary gift to the Auburn Public Library by the estate of the late Mrs. Eloise McKinley Nixon, a former Auburn resident and dedicated Library patron. The gift was given in memory of Mrs. Nixon's son, William McKinley Nixon.

Appliance Disposal

The Environmental Services Department collects washers, dryers, dishwashers, microwaves, and stoves. These items are commonly called "white goods" and curb-side collection requires the purchase of a red collection sticker. The cost of a red sticker is $5.00 per item.

Disposal tickets are required to dispose of appliances.

White goods that use freon, including freezers, refrigerators, and air conditioners require a blue collection sticker. The costs of disposal of these items have increased because of environmental regulations that require the removal of freon before disposal. The cost of a blue sticker is $28.00 per item. Stickers may be purchased at the Revenue Office in City Hall at 144 Tichenor Avenue.

Citizens may also request a white goods sticker by mailing a check to the Finance Department at 144 Tichenor Avenue, Suite 6. The cost to receive a white goods sticker by mail is $5.00 plus $1.50 for postage and handling for a red sticker and $28.00 plus $1.50 for postage and handling for a blue sticker. Please write "white goods sticker" on your check.
